Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 2 recites the limitation "glycerin or its derivative" in reference to the alkoxylated glyceride recited in claim 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-8, 10 and 12 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoshida et al. (US 5,411,932).

Yoshida et al. disclose a composition comprising Compound A (nicosulfuron); polyoxyethylene hydrogenated castor oil; polyoxyethylene nonylphenyl ether (alkoxylated glyceride), dialkylsulfosuccinate and polyglycerol esters of fatty acid (coadjuvants); bentonite-alkylamino complex (thickener-additive); and urea (nitrogen fertilizer). (Example 1; abstract; column 1, lines 8-14)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshida et al. (US 5,411,932)

Applicant's Invention

Applicant claims a composition comprising a sulfonylurea and an alkoxylated glyceride. Regarding Claim 9 the composition further comprises one or more other herbicidal compounds. In Claim 11 the composition further comprises one or more herbicidal compounds and a coadjuvant.

Determination of the scope and the content of the prior art

(MPEP 2141.01)

Yoshida et al. teaches a composition comprising the sulfonylurea, nicosulfuron (compound A) and the alkoxylated glyceride, polyoxyethylene hydrogenated castor oil (surfactant) (column 3, lines 47-65. Yoshida et al. teaches that the compositions comprise at least one additional herbicidal component such as 2, 4-D and dicamba (column 2, lines 10-67).

Ascertainment of the difference between the prior art and the claims

(MPEP 2141.02)

Yoshida et al. does not exemplify a composition comprising an alkoxylated glyceride; the sulfonylurea and one or more herbicidal compounds with or without a coadjuvant.

Finding of prima facie obviousness

Rationale and Motivation (MPEP 2142-2143)

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to further include one or more herbicidal compounds within the composition in view of Yoshida et al. One would have been motivated to include herbicidal compositions because Yoshida et al. teach a chemically stabilized suspension comprising Compound A, urea, a surfactant and at least one additional herbicidal component.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tadayuki et al. (US 5,668,086) teaches the use of chelating agents in herbicidal formulations enhance herbicidal effect.
